

HARBOURLEE ROCK

BY IRVING GALVEZ

HISTORY

Harbourlee Rock is an isle on the Gulf of Halag that borders Karamaikos and Five Shires. For many year this was just a pass thru place for sea merchants and pirates that saw the rock just as reference for their travels.

At klarmont of 998 AC Black Eagle Baron send explorers to see if they could use the isle as an Iron slave camp, to draw out some attention of his activities out Karamaikos. After exploring, the scouts reported that the isle could be used for those purposes. Baron von Hendriks decided to take control of the rock and send a small force of 30 humans and orcs to start operations. For nearly half year everything was perfect. He built a big slave village and market. He also built a small dock with capacity for 2 small or medium ships. But as always Black Eagle soldiers weren't too discipline and started attacking merchant ships that pass near the rock. After failing an attack on a Five Shire merchant ship, word spread on Five Shire that Black Eagle took possession of the rock.

Starting 999 AC Five Shires send a war galley to the isle and a battle to control it took place. First the halfings overrun Black Eagle forces taking control of the camp and the docks. But Black Eagle send more forces and the battle of Harbourlee took place. Tension growth between nations. Duke Stephan meet Ambassador Jenkin Flintfoot at Specularum and the Harbourlee Treaty was made. This treaty majorly stated that the attacks had to stop and that a group of halfings and High forge dwarves were going to check the real isle borders. The result was that some portion of it was on Karameikian sea. The rock was divided, 80% of the isle was from Five Shires and 20% of Karameikos.

Duke Stephan decide to give administration to his cousin Ludwig Von Hendriks arguing the proximity to Black Eagle Barony. The Five Shires territory was given in administration to Sea Shire sheriff Jaervosz Dustyboots.

Dustyboots after knowing that Karameikian part was going to be control by the Black Eagle, built a wall and tower to keep control of him. Von Hendricks answered constructing a tower to protect its territory.

At mid-999 the Eagle Fly incident took place bringing new tension at Harbourlee Rock. While black eagle soldiers patrol the wall perimeter, soldier Varis Reffnicov run and deserted jumping the wall to the Five Shires territory. He was immediately capture by halfings guards and taken to prison. After talking to him they realized Varis just wanted to escape Black Eagle. The next day Black Eagle lieutenant Gregory Milic asked the halving deputy Hildigrim Hardfoot to return Varis. But Five Shires refuse bringing a new conflict and discussion on Specularum. At final, as always, Duke Stephan didn't believe all the atrocities they told of his cousin and decided that Varis could choose where to stay. Varis chose five shires and since then he has been working as soldier at the Five Shires Territory mostly because Hardfoot know how uncomfortable is for Von Hendricks.
